

Mercedes-Benz

Introducing the

GLK-Class

Serious engineering. For people with a serious sense of fun.

GLK 350 shown with optional Black leather interior, Burl Walnut wood trim, and optional Multimedia and Premium 2 Packages.

It is an invitation to play that won't take no for an answer. A dare of sorts. To remember what fun is. To remember how much fun driving can be. Sure engineering, style and safety are serious. But they can also be fun. The fun of an SUV, compact enough to be nimble, yet large and rugged enough to be up for anything. A powerful SUV that's right for the city, right for the country. An SUV that's just right, period.

Coming this January, the new 2010 GLK from Mercedes-Benz. Consider yourself invited to learn more at MBUSA.com.
